The Nevada men's basketball team opened a new practice facility in November. The Ramon Sessions Basketball Performance Center provides the Wolf Pack a new facility in which to practice, train and condition.

Former Wolf Pack star and current New York Knicks point guard Ramon Sessions donated $1 million towards the development of a basketball practice facility on the University of Nevada campus, the Wolf Pack athletics department announced on Oct. 4, 2016. Sessions was a member of Nevada Hall of Fame class of 2017.

The Ramon Sessions Basketball Performance Center is housed at what was the Lombardi Recreation Center, just south of Mackay Stadium on campus. The new strength and conditioning portion is expected to be completed in January. Locker room revitalization is the next phase and is planned for completion in 2018.

"For me, giving back to the University of Nevada means a lot," said Sessions, who is entering his 11th season in the NBA. He returns to Reno annually to put on a summer clinic for area children.

"This was always a second home for me, a place that gave me a chance when a lot of schools didn't. Coming up as a college kid, we didn't always have access to a gym. For me, with 11 years in the NBA, I'm blessed to give back to my second home. I'm excited about it. I know the coaches are excited about it. And I know the community will be excited about it," Sessions said.

The dedicated space for basketball features two courts and six baskets, the project will service all student-athletes at Nevada, as the Wolf Pack's strength and conditioning program will move to a much larger footprint within the building.

"The project is game-changing for the Wolf Pack and will have a positive impact on the lives of thousands of students for years to come. On behalf of the athletics department and the University, I want to thank Ramon for this historic gift to his alma mater," said athletics director Doug Knuth. "We feel that the University of Nevada provides a tremendous opportunity for achievement in all facets of life. Ramon seized his opportunity at Nevada and we're incredibly proud of all that he's achieved, on and off the court."

The Ramon Sessions Basketball Performance Center is the culmination of a unique collaboration between the University administration, intercollegiate athletics and the community. With the arrival of the E.L. Weigand Fitness Center, University President Marc Johnson, Vice President for Administration & Finance Ron Zurek and Knuth worked closely together on maximizing the use of existing facilities which would have a dramatic impact on our programs' competitiveness, at a fraction of the cost. Once the Lombardi Recreation Center was identified as a basketball practice facility, athletics was then able to engage the community and share the vision.

Said President Johnson: "We thank Ramon Sessions for this truly transformative gift. Never before in the history of the University has a former student-athlete made such a significant and program-changing commitment. His donation will allow Wolf Pack athletics to better serve all of our student-athletes for generations to come. Since leaving campus in 2007 to pursue his dreams, Ramon has represented the University and the northern Nevada community with great dignity and class. We are so proud of Ramon, and grateful for his generosity and the generosity of the other key donors in our community that have made the Ramon Sessions Basketball Performance Center a reality."

At the time, the $1 million donation was the largest ever given to the Nevada athletics department by one of its alumni. It was the lead gift on a project that will come in around $2 million, with nearly a dozen donors also supporting this important project.

"We are extremely humbled and honored by Ramon's gift," said head men's coach Eric Musselman. "His generosity will not only serve our current student-athletes as they aspire towards their dreams, but pave the way for years and years of championship sustainability here at Nevada. This gift speaks volumes, not only to Ramon's commitment to our current and future student-athletes, but to his own incredibly positive experience here at Nevada. We wish Ramon the absolute best as he prepares for this upcoming NBA season."

The Ramon Sessions Basketball Performance Center is the latest in a string of facility improvements at Nevada. The Wolf Pack just ushered in an $11.5 million renovation at Mackay Stadium and a separate project brought new videoboards to Mackay and Lawlor, and a new sound system at the football stadium.

The Pack also saw new facilities come on board for the tennis and track programs, with six new on-campus tennis courts and a new throws facility developed on the eastern edge of campus, next to Hixson Park. A sparkling new silver and blue track circles Chris Ault Field at Mackay Stadium. The projects came on the heels of new FieldTurf installation at Wolf Pack Park, locker room upgrades for women's soccer, track and field, cross country, football and both basketball programs, as well as an enhanced indoor golf training center. New Sprinturf was installed on the field at Peccole Park in the fall of 2017. In October of 2017, baseball alum Don Weir donated $1 million towards improving the home of Nevada baseball, Peccole Park.

WOLF PACK SPORTS NETWORK

Len Stevens and John Ramey - The Voice of Wolf Pack Athletics

The Wolf Pack Radio Network will carry every minute of Nevada men's basketball action again this season, from the opening tipoff until the final seconds tick off the scoreboard in another postseason game.

The Wolf Pack Radio Network is overseen by Wolf Pack Sports Properties, Learfield's local team and multimedia rights holder for University of Nevada Athletics. An industry leader for more than four decades, Learfield has a deep presence in the college athletics landscape nationwide. In addition to Nevada, it manages the multimedia and sponsorship rights for nearly 130 collegiate institutions, conferences and arenas, and supports athletic departments at all competitive levels as title sponsor of the prestigious Learfield Directors' Cup. Learfield also provides its collegiate partners access to professional concessions and ticket sales; branding, licensing and trademark consulting; digital and social platform expertise; campuswide business and sponsorship development; and venue and technology systems through its affiliated companies.

First-year announcer John Ramey will provide play-by-play for the Wolf Pack men's basketball team with Len Stevens adding the color commentary for home contests. Ramey, a member of the UCLA Bruins broadcast team since 2010, was selected as the new voice of the Wolf Pack and will call Nevada football, men's basketball and baseball games beginning this year.

Ramey was with the Bruins for the last seven seasons, calling UCLA baseball, men's and women's soccer, and select men's and women's basketball games. For the last four years, he also was host of the Bruin Insider Show. For nearly 11 years, Ramey also has been the men's basketball play-by-play voice for the UC Riverside Highlanders. His broadcasting career also has included serving as producer for various Westwood One shows over the years and as a sports anchor, news writer and producer for KNX 1070 Newsradio at CBS News in Los Angeles.

The Wolf Pack Coaches Show airs each Tuesday at 6 p.m. on 94.5 FM once the football season has concluded. Second-year head coach Eric Musselman will join Ramey for the hour-long show each week. Coach Musselman will recap the Wolf Pack's previous games and look ahead to the next opponents. The show, will also feature interviews with Wolf Pack assistant coaches and student-athletes.

The show is broadcast live at 6 p.m. on ESPN Radio 94.5 FM in Northern Nevada alongside KPLY 630 AM. The show can also be heard live on KUUB 94.3 FM in Carson City.

Lawlor Events Center

Completed in 1983, Lawlor Events Center, located on the University of Nevada campus, has been home to Wolf Pack basketball, men's since its inception and women's since 1994-95. The arena seats 11,536 in an oval configuration with every spectator enjoying a center-court line of sight. The seating capacity includes 60 seats mounted on the main floor, bringing fans nearly courtside on all four sides.

During the 2016-17 the Wolf Pack faithful helped the team set a school record averaging 8,923 fans and post a 13-1 home record. In the Pack's record setting 104-77 victory over UNLV on Feb. 8, 2017, an LEC record crowd of 11,841 fans watched Nevada down the Rebels. Senior D.J. Fenner netted 37 points, the most scored by a Wolf Pack player in the series with the Rebels.

On March 3, 2017 the third largest crowd in school history of 11,662 watched the Pack win its first Mountain West regular season basketball title downing Colorado State 85-72. Nevada went on to add the MW Tournament title the next week in Las Vegas.

Since the 2015-16 season several upgrades were made to the arena. A new floor and scoreboard were installed. A major renovation to the locker room was completed.

Named after Nevada's legendary coach and athletic director Glenn "Jake" Lawlor, Lawlor Events Center was made possible by a grant approved by the Nevada State Legislature in 1979. Ground was originally broken in October 1981, and the construction project was completed on schedule for the grand opening on Nov. 4, 1983.

Originally built at a cost of $26 million, Lawlor Events Center has undergone periodic modifications and improvements. During the 1998-99 season, Lawlor Events Center unveiled a state-of-the-art electronic imaging scoreboard that allows fans to see highlights before each game, player pictures and stats, and includes two statistics boards at each end of the floor. At the start of the 1999-2000 season, in a never-ending effort to consistently modify the facility, the teams played on a new floor.

The arena's capacity and the efforts taken to improve the facility made Lawlor the home of the Big West Conference men's and women's basketball tournaments from 1996-2000. It didn't take the WAC long to tab Nevada for yet another championship tournament coming to Reno in 2005 and 2006. The WAC Tournaments returned to Lawlor Events Center in 2009 and 2010.

The NBA has also chosen Lawlor to host exhibition games. So far, the Sacramento Kings, Utah Jazz, Golden State Warriors, Seattle SuperSonics and the New Orleans Hornets have all played at Lawlor. In addition to the NBA, the Harlem Globetrotters have also played in the Pack's den.

Lawlor Events Center, however, is far from just a basketball arena.

The facility has served as host to concerts and events throughout its history. Lawlor has been host to such sporting events as the Professional Bull Riding Association's Bull-Nanza and concerts such as Fleetwood Mac, Cher, Bette Midler, Metallica, Prince, Yellowcard and Hilary Duff.

As a concert facility, Lawlor is capable of seating 12,000 spectators, and the arena can be changed in configuration or reduced in size to accommodate smaller acts or to provide a more intimate theater setting.

Also utilized extensively for conventions and meetings, Lawlor's main floor provides accommodations for large convention exhibits and can be used for large group gatherings.

The arena's meeting and convention complex, which was upgraded in July of 2002, includes a large foyer for receptions and registration for meetings and conventions. Eight meeting/ banquet rooms provide nearly 10,000 square feet of space, which can be easily divided into smaller rooms with fully-movable partitions and service access to all areas.

Each of Nevada's basketball teams have locker rooms in the facility with two more opponent locker rooms and two smaller dressing rooms. Additional rooms are utilized for press conferences, educational/social functions, performer rehearsals, personnel briefings, storage for performers, and auxiliary dining, as well as housing for the facility's executive offices.

SEASON PREVIEW

Season Preview

REVIEW

In year two leading the program head coach Eric Musselman followed up a CBI Championship in his first season, with Mountain West regular season and tournament titles. The MW Tournament title earned Nevada its first trip to the NCAA Tournament in a decade giving coach Musselman a trifecta in just his second season. The Wolf Pack won 24 games in his first season and surpassed that with 28 in year two. Musselman was named the USBWA District VIII Coach of the Year.

The Pack faithful rewarded the team as a school record average of 8,923 fans watched Nevada post a 13-1 home record.

Several newcomers were key to Nevada's success along with a corps of veterans. Transfer Jordan Caroline was named the MVP of the Mountain West Tournament and was a second-team MW coaches and media selection. Caroline scored 45 points and hit the game winner in overtime at New Mexico as the Pack rallied from 25-points down to win 105-104.

Senior transfer Marcus Marshall, who led the team scoring at 19.7 points per game, earned first-team All-MW honors and MW Newcomer of the Year honors from the coaches and media. He was named to the MW All-Tournament team and to the USBWA District VIII All-District team. D.J. Fenner joined the Pack's 1,000 point club during the season and was named to the All-MW coaches second team and media third team.

Sophomore Cameron Oliver also scored his 1000th point during the season. Oliver earned numerous honors during the season being named to the MW coaches defensive team and second team while the media selected him to their first team and as the conference defensive player of the year. An All-MW Tournament selection for the second time, he was also named to the USBWA District VIII team. Oliver entered the NBA draft after his sophomore season.

PREVIEW

In his third season coach Musselman may finally have the pieces for his positionless system as the majority of the 11 active players have the ability to play multiple positions. Although the Pack lost 67 (1861-of-2792) percent of its offense five transfers will join a solid nucleus that returns from last year. The 2017-18 team will have the most depth and versatility of Musselman's three teams. In the MW preseason poll the media selected the Pack to repeat as conference champions.

BACKCOURT

The backcourt returns three-year starter Lindsey Drew along with sophomores Josh Hall and Charlie Tooley. Joining them are senior transfers Hallice Cooke and Kendall Stephens. Freshman walk-on John Jones is the fifth member of the group.

Drew has done a little bit of everything in his time at Nevada. The 6-4 point guard averaged 5.9 points, 4.9 rebounds and 4.7 assists per game his sophomore season. The 4.7 assists led the MW and his 164 total assists broke the Nevada sophomore record that was held by current New York Knicks guard Ramon Sessions. An outstanding defender he usually draws the opponent's top backcourt scorer.

The lanky Hall made nine starts as a freshman last season but did miss six games after suffering a concussion against San José State in the MW opener. An excellent defender, he improved his 3-point shooting over the summer. Similar to Drew he contributes in many ways averaging 3.7 points, 2.6 rebounds, and one assist a game. He netted 12 points in the MW Tournament title game victory over Colorado State.

Cooke and Stephens sat out last season under NCAA transfers rules but are ready to contribute in their final collegiate season. Cooke has the ability to play either point or shooting guard. Cooke earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 freshman honors at Oregon State then spent a year at Iowa State. In 64 career games he has averaged 5.4 points, 1.8 rebounds and 1.7 assists per game.

The 6-7 Stephens possess a smooth outside shooting touch and came to the Pack after three seasons at Purdue. His height allows him to play the one through four spots on the court. In his first season with the Boilermakers he was named to the Big Ten All-Freshman team after averaging 8.4 points per game in conference action. His career scoring average is 7.9 points per game with a 36.2 shooting percentage from behind the arc.

Tooley played in 16 games as a freshman walk-on last season. He connected on three of his four 3-point attempts to total nine points. His biggest shot of the season came at New Mexico when he nailed a 3-pointer that was integral in the Pack's rally from 25 points down to win 105-104 in overtime.

The 6-0 Jones is the son of associate head coach Johnny Jones. The younger Jones scored 1,300 points in his prep career at University Laboratory School in Baton Rouge, La. A solid outside shooter he adds depth to the backcourt.

FRONTCOURT

Caroline and Elijah Foster are the two letter winners that return in the frontcourt. They will be joined by Caleb and Cody Martin along with graduate transfer Darien Williams.

A preseason MW media selection, the 6-7 Caroline averaged 15 points and a team-high 9.2 rebounds last season. He was named the MW Tournament MVP and to the coaches and media All-MW second team. In his first season in the program he topped the Wolf Pack in rebounds a team-high 19 times, led the team in scoring seven times, scored in double figures 27 times, had 16 games of 10 or more rebounds, seven 20-point games, a 31-point game and the 45-point game. In 14 games he posted a double-double that led the team, ranked second in the MW and 32nd in NCAA I. This season he could see time as forward and guard.

Foster started the first seven games of the year and averaged 12 points and 7.4 rebounds per game. He is the only player on team in his fourth season in the program and should challenge for a starting spot in his final season. A good midrange shooter and solid rebounder, he brings a toughness to the team.

The Martin twins sat out last season after transferring from North Carolina State and will be eligible to play their junior years in 2017-18. The identical twins both stand 6-7 and weigh 205. They will see time at both guard and forward in their first season on the court.

Selected as the MW media Newcomer of the Year, Caleb averaged 11.5 points, 4.7 rebounds and 1.4 assists in 30.5 minutes per game as a sophomore at N.C. State. He started 19 games and appeared in 33 for the Wolfpack. In 20 games he reached double figures with a career-high 21 occurring twice.

Cody started 16 games and played in 33 as a sophomore. He averaged six points, 4.4 rebounds and 2.3 assists in 25.8 minutes per game. Seven times he scored in double figures with five times coming in ACC play. From the field he shot 46.7 percent and 59.7 percent at the free throw line.

Williams is immediately eligible as a graduate transfer from St. John's. The 6-8 forward is another of the versatile players that can step out and make a 3-pointer. In 27 career games at SJU he averaged 3.7 points and 2.6 rebounds per game. Look for him to patrol the middle for the Pack in his lone season in Reno.

TRANFERS

Nevada will have four four-year transfers that will sit out as redshirts under NCAA transfer rules. Tre'Shawn Thurman (Omaha), Corey Henson (Wagner College), Nisré Zousoua (Bryant) and Jazz Johnson (Portland). The transfers will practice and press the active players each day on the court.

Thurman, a 6-7 forward, averagef 13.8 points and 7.8 rebounds per game at Omaha. He earned honorable mention All-Summit League honors.

Henson was twice named to the Northeast Conference second team and last season was a second-team NABC honoree. As a sophomore he averaged a team-high 14.6 points that ranked seventh in the NEC.

A 6-2 shooting guard, Zouzoua was a first-team All-Northeast Conference selection as a sophomore. He led the NEC averaging 20.3 points per game. The Brockton, Mass. native averaged 4.2 rebounds and 1.5 assists per game starting 29-of-31 games for the Bulldogs last season.

Johnson averaged 15.8 points, 2.8 rebounds and 2.3 assists, starting all 33 games for the Pilots in his sophomore season. From the field he shot 44.4 percent and was good on 41.5 percent of his 3-point attempts, making 61-of-147.

The Red Raiders were 18-14 on the season and had an RPI of 122.

Nevada will participate in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame Classic at the Staples Center in Los Angeles on Dec. 8. The Pack will play TCU who captured the postseason NIT last year. The Horned Frogs were 24-15 and had an RPI of 52.

The non-conference schedule concludes with four games in the Continental Tire Las Vegas Classic. The first two games will be played in Reno against Radford on Dec. 17 and UC Davis on Dec. 19. Radford was 14-18 last season while UC Davis went 23-13. The Aggies won the Big West tournament to earn a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

The final two games of the tournament will take place at the Orleans Arena in Las Vegas. Southern Illinois is on tap on Dec. 22 and San Francisco on Dec. 23. The Dons were 20-13, played in the postseason CBI and had an RPI of 100.

THE MOUNTAIN WEST SCHEDULE

The 2017-18 season will be the sixth for the University of Nevada in the Mountain West. Last season the Wolf Pack captured the regular season title going 14-4 and the tournament championship to earn the conference's automatic NCAA tournament bid. It was the first MW basketball titles in school history.

The schedule features home-and-home series for eight of the conference matchups, while the Pack will only play New Mexico in Reno and Air Force on the road.

The Wolf Pack's first conference game is set for Dec. 27 at Fresno State, while the conference home opener is set for Dec. 30 against New Mexico. Rival UNLV will visit Lawlor Events Center on Feb. 7 and the Pack will head to Las Vegas on Feb. 28. The first rematch of the regular season and tournament championship game will be on Feb. 3 when Nevada travels to Fort Collins to face Colorado State. The Rams will make the return trip to Reno on Feb. 25, the Pack's only Sunday game this year.

Building on his success from the first season, Musselman led his team to both a Mountain West regular season and tournament championship in year two, bringing home two trophies to Reno. Musselman's team won 28 games in the 2016-17 season, tied for the second most in program history.

The regular season title marked the first since the 2011-12 season and the tournament title was the first since 2005-06. With the tournament victory, the Pack also earned its first trip to the NCAA Championship since the 2006-07 season.

Musselman became just the second coach in Wolf Pack history to lead his team to back-to-back 20 win seasons in his first two years, joining Mark Fox. The 2016-17 season marked the second consecutive year Musselman led his team to at least 24 wins. The success did not go unrecognized as Musselman was named the Mountain West Coach of the Year by the United States Basketball Writers Association.

Under Musselman, several Wolf Pack players earned postseason honors in his second season. Senior Marcus Marshall was named to the All-Mountain West first team by both the conference coaches and media after breaking the Nevada single season record with 115 threes made, the second most in Mountain West history. Marshall was named the Newcomer of the Year in both polls.

Sophomore Cameron Oliver earned first team honors from the Mountain West media and second team honors from the conference coaches. Fellow Sophomore Jordan Caroline earned second team honors in both polls, while senior D.J. Fenner earned second team honors from the coaches and third team honors from the media.

In his first season at Nevada Musselman changed the culture of the men's basketball team. Musselman led the Wolf Pack to a 24-14 record and the College Basketball Invitational Championship. The 85-82 overtime CBI Championship victory over Morehead State came on Apr. 1, marking the first time a Wolf Pack basketball team had played a game in the month of April. BleacherReport named him their Mountain West Coach of the Year.

The 24 wins is the sixth most in school history and the 20-win season is the 13th in 102 years of Nevada basketball. He joined Mark Fox (2004-05) and David Carter (2008-09) as the third consecutive first-year coach to win 20 games leading Pack basketball team. Musselman also won his first collegiate game when the Pack defeated Coastal Carolina 73-56 in Hawaii.

The Pack's 15-win improvement from nine wins to 24 ranked the team as the sixth most improved NCAA I squad in the country.

- 2000-01: Kansas State

Matt Eck arrived at Nevada in 2001 as an Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach and rose through the ranks to his current position of Assistant Athletics Director for Strength and Conditioning. In his 17th season Eck returns to work with the Wolf Pack men's basketball team in 2017-18.

In his first stint working with the Wolf Pack basketball team he played a pivotal role of the golden era of the men's basketball program that went to four straight NCAA Tournaments, including the school's first ever Sweet 16 appearance in 2004. He helped developed seven players from the program who would go on to play professionally in the NBA.

A native of the small town of Newton, Kan., Eck attended Kansas State where he played football for Hall of Fame Head Coach Bill Snyder. During his time with the Wildcats, Eck developed under strength coach and mentor Rod Cole. When his playing days came to an end in 2000, Coach Cole gave Eck the opportunity of his first job in the strength and conditioning field as a student assistant at Kansas State.

In June of 2001, Eck accepted a position at Nevada where he began working with all 17 varsity sports. During his tenure at Nevada, he has been a part of 10 bowl appearances, a pair of WAC Championships, 10 All-America Honorees, and has guided the development of 35 NFL players in his career. An integral part of all intercollegiate sports on the Nevada campus, he has helped the Wolf Pack win 22 conference championships in his time in Reno.

In June of 2008, Matt Eck was named the Director of Strength and Conditioning and in July of 2009 was elevated to Assistant Athletic Director for Strength and Conditioning. In his new role, he is responsible for the entire development and direction of the Wolf Pack Strength and Conditioning Program and the 17 sports that Nevada sponsors.

Eck holds certifications from the National Strength and Conditioning Association, the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association as well as United States Weightlifting. In May of 2016, Coach Eck was awarded the highest honor in the Strength & Conditioning profession by being named a Master Strength & Conditioning Coach through the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association.

Matt is married to the former Jennifer Hermanson of Sparks, Nev. They reside in Sparks with their two sons, Carter and Mason.

#32 - RETIRED NUMBER
EDGAR JONES
1976-79

Edgar Jones is the only player in school history to have his number retired (#32), and a banner commemorating him hangs from the rafters at Lawlor Events Center.

Jones starred for the Wolf Pack from 1975-79, leading the team to its first Division I postseason tournament, the National Invitational Tournament in 1979.

Until the 2006-07 season, he was the school's all-time career scoring leader with 1,877 points and the second-leading rebounder with 1,016. He now ranks third in career scoring and rebounding.

Jones played for the NBA for six seasons with the New Jersey Nets, Detroit Pistons, San Antonio Spurs and Cleveland Cavaliers from 1980-86.
